And action! Fresh bid for cinema

Companies 'willing to invest' as hundreds back campaign to bring big screen to town

NATALIE ROBINSON
@NatalieR_CN

RESIDENTS are backing a campaign to bring a cinema to Newmarket after hopes to turn De Niro's back to its original use were scuppered last year.

More than 1,300 people have joined a group dedicated to bringing a cinema to the town – and organiser David Rippington has said companies are still interested in delivering, even though the De Niro site is not available.

He said: "People are getting frustrated. Thetford is having a cinema built and Ely is getting a five-screen cinema. We do not want to keep travelling at least 15 miles to go to the cinema. It's not good enough to say there is a cinema in Cambridge or Bury St Edmunds."

He added: "There are companies that could be willing to invest. It's nonsense to say Newmarket couldn't have a proper cinema. We have seen a massive support and a lot of passion for this project. Matthew Hancock has got to keep to his promise."

West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock promised the town a cinema last year.

He told the News: "Newmarket is brilliant in many ways but for years has lacked a cinema."

"I'm working with residents, the town council, West Suffolk councils and others to deliver on my commitment to a cinema in Newmarket, and I'm confident we will achieve this."

FUNDRAISING

Plucky Paul in 66-mile ride bid

STARS: Paul with the Suffolk Stars ahead of the bike ride

A MAN who had to have his leg amputated above the knee just 13 weeks ago after fighting bone infections, is set to get on his bike for a 66.4 mile charity ride.

Paul Clark, from Mildenhall, contracted a bone infection back in November 2014 after having an operation to put metal work in his leg.

He was in and out of hospital for more than a year, going through countless surgeries, before doctors at Addenbrooke's said the leg may need to be amputated.

Paul said: "This was a year-and-a-half of hell. When they told me my leg could be amputated it hit me really badly because I wasn't even considering it."

"My first reaction was breaking down on the phone to my wife. In the end it was my decision and I decided it was for the best."

Despite his struggles, three days after his operation, Paul was already in the physiotherapy room to look to the future.

NATALIE ROBINSON
@NatalieR_CN

He added: "It was very different and very strange at first to use the prosthetic. I am using crutches at the moment and I'm slowly getting used to it."

And just 13 weeks after the operation, which saw his leg removed above the knee, Paul is back on his feet and getting on his bike to raise money for a local group.

He will be cycling 66.4 miles – from Mildenhall to Mungford, on to Downham Market, to Ely and then back to Mildenhall – and is trying to raise £5,000 for the Suffolk Stars, a gymnastic and cheerleading group, to buy new equipment.

Paul said: "My daughter Ella goes to the cheerleading group and they were absolutely brilliant with her and the support they offered, and after that I decided to do something for them."

"They do a lot of displays and have mats for the floor which fit together like a jigsaw, but at the moment they're uneven so I am looking to raise money to replace them."

Donations have already come in for the cycle ride, which is set to take place on September 26, including £200 from Paul's consultant.

"I couldn't believe it when I saw the amount," Paul said. "I have already been discharged from him and he is happy for me to do the ride."

If you would like to donate to Paul's cycle ride, go to justgiving.com/crowdfunding/paul-clark-532.

PLANNING

Green light for new industrial unit at town's business park

A NEW industrial unit has been given planning permission on the Newmarket Business Park.

The 15,000sq ft site, which will include 33 parking spaces, was given approval by Forest Heath District Council earlier this month.

The unit will be built with a steel portal frame and is set to be finished to a "shell and core specification" so that prospective renters or buyers can change it to their specialities.

It is also set to have a ground level loading door and an office or mezzanine floor.

The unit will be able to be taken on by one organisation or split in half so two businesses can operate from it.

Philip Woolnet, director of Cheffins Commercial which is looking after the site, said: "This new industrial unit is the next stage in what has already shown itself to be a hugely successful commercial location."

It is hoped the industrial unit will be ready by early 2017.

DEAR ROXY: Erica and John with AHT vet Renata Stavinohova and Roxy

AHT helps to find dog's sight

SPECIALISTS vets were left astounded after a dog who went blind without any warning suddenly regained her sight.

Roxy, a seven-year-old giant schnauzer, was out on a walk with her owners Erica and John Redmond.

Always boisterous, fun and loving, Erica and John began to worry when Roxy ploughed into them at full gallop.

When she wandered off a low promenade wall in Cromer, her owners rushed her to the vets where they thought she had an eye infection.

But that night, Roxy narrowly missed walking into a tree and started bumping into furniture – so Erica and John went to the Animal Health Trust near Newmarket.

Erica said: "Renata Stavinohova, one of the ophthalmologists there, examined Roxy's eyes and found severe inflammation and that both of Roxy's retinas were detached.

"Renata confirmed our worst fears – Roxy was blind

NATALIE ROBINSON
@NatalieR_CN

in both eyes."

Roxy was kept at the AHT for close monitoring and diagnostic tests before being put on a course of steroid and eye drops to stop her immune system from attacking her retinas.

When she was discharged, John and Erica set about making their home Roxy-friendly, bubble wrapping furniture and marking doorways with perfume so she could get around more easily.

Two weeks later, Roxy went back to the AHT and although the inflammation had slightly improved, Roxy was still blind.

She started on a stronger immunosuppressant medication and went home again. But within a few days, Erica and John started to see improvements.

"We were convinced she could see a little," Erica said. "The clues couldn't all be due to her other senses being heightened. Walking down the road, she saw a man approaching from 50 yards and barked at him. Another time we thought she saw children walking about 100 yards away."

And, in what AHT vet Renata calls an "amazing" case, at her next check up, Roxy was able to see in both eyes and her retinas had reattached.

Renata said: "When I first saw Roxy she was, understandably, a quiet, subdued dog who was blind and frightened. The change in her now is quite remarkable.

"This is a truly interesting and amazing case and we are so pleased for Roxy, Erica and John."

Erica and John paid tribute to the AHT, saying it helped their dog get back to her "dear self".

Erica said: "We couldn't be more grateful to the staff at the AHT for their care and attention throughout this worrying time."

COMMUNITY

Temporary closure of post office

THE post office in Isleham will be closed temporarily after the postmaster resigned.

The branch, which was in St Andrew's Social Centre in Church Street, has been forced to close after losing its postmaster.

A new "hosted outreach service" will return to the village from Wednesday, October 12 where the postmaster from the Soham branch will visit at set times each week.

These will be on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between 9am and 11.30am.

Phillipa Newey, post office field change advisor, said: "The establishment of a hosted service provides the best possible solution to enable us to restore post office services in Isleham in the longer term."

Until October, residents of Isleham will have to travel to the Soham branch, at 14 High Street, Soham, or the Mildenhall branch, inside Co-Op on King Street, Mildenhall.

The Post Office will restore services to Isleham but is looking for people's views.

Send them via email to comments@postoffice.co.uk by October 6.

Glee as delighted students smash GCSE predictions

NATALIE ROBINSON
@NatalieR_CN

SCHOOLS in Newmarket and Mildenhall have gone for gold and achieved great GCSE results.

Cheers of delight could be heard at Newmarket Academy as students got together to collect their results.

High achievers included Henry Frost, 16, who took home two A*s, seven As and two Bs.

He told the Newmarket News: "I am very pleased – they have all gone very well. I hope to be able to go on to be a vet in the future; it's something I've wanted to do for a long time and I have a real interest in science. It was a lot of hard work and a lot of revision – and a bit of luck!"

He will be going on to King Edward VI School in Bury St Edmunds to do A-levels.

Daisy Wilson, 16, is hoping her photography career is about to take off after bagging A*s, As and Bs.

She is going on to study photography, psychology and geography at Long Road in Cambridge. She said: "I am really proud. I want a career as a photographer."

"I have already been commissioned for a few things including a wedding, a baby shoot and a Christening and I hope to work with Vogue in the future."

Anna Armstrong, 16, also achieved two A*s, two distinction stars, six As and one B, and Sylvia Moore got three A*s, one distinction star, five As and two Bs.

Mirantee Ratchaplee was on cloud nine as she opened her results which mean she is all set for a fashion and textiles course.

She said: "I just can't believe it. I am so shocked. I put a lot of work in and I had a lot of support from the teachers. All the hard work has paid off."

Nick Froy, head of Newmarket Academy, said: "Results confirm the academy's continuing transformation and validates our commitment to every child in the school."

"We are very pleased that on average our students in Year 11 made greater than nationally expected levels of progress. It means we can be confident that our strategy of recognising the needs of every child is the right one."

At Mildenhall College Academy, Year 11 students had "followed in the footsteps of Team GB" according to the headteacher, smashing predicted grades.

Successful students included Connor Carter, 16, who achieved 13 GCSEs including four A*s and six As. He is now going on to do physics, computing and science at sixth form.

"I am very pleased with my results," he said. "It was a very stressful time because there were so many exams – and now comes the A-levels."

Taylor Jane Miller overcame a broken leg to achieve 12 GCSEs, including six A and B grades.

She is a young carer for her mother and also suffered a virus causing her to need regular breaks during exams.

She then broke her leg in the same period – putting her practical dance assessment into jeopardy.

Despite it all, Taylor achieved top grades in the exams, with examiners using previous dance footage and Taylor undertaking an isolated drama performance.

Susan Byles, headteacher of MCA, said she was very proud of Taylor.

Emma Tapp, 16, said it was the support of her family that helped her achieve 13 GCSEs, including one A* and nine A grades.

She said: "I got very ill and anxious through my GCSEs which was not fun but my results are good."

"My mum and grandma were there to push me along and help me. Now I'm hoping to go into a career in biochemistry and I'm looking forward to my next step."

Sian Johnson achieved 12 GCSEs, including three A*s and eight A grades, and Daniel Gee walked away with 12 GCSEs including two A*s and five A grades.

Mrs Byles said: "We are incredibly pleased with these results which represent outstanding progress for the students in this year group."

"Following in the footsteps of Team GB, this year group has smashed predictions."

270-mile trail ride for charity

A MAN from Newmarket organised a convoy of bikers last week to take on an epic challenge to raise cash for charity.

Colin Pountney and more than 25 bikers went on a trail ride from Cambridge to Hunstanton and back on a 270-mile route.

The challenge, which consisted of using byways and unsurfaced, unclassified roads, was to raise money for Headway – a charity that can help bikers with head injuries in accidents.

Colin and the other bikers raised £1,000 in total, with the bikers leaving first thing in the morning and some not getting back until 10.20pm.

Colin and some of the other bikers gave over the £1,000 to Headway at their base in Fulbourn, Cambridgeshire last week.

Support new business ideas

I HAVE considered opening a shop in the town, and some outline figures proved it would not be feasible, due to the high cost of rents and business rates.

I fear that too much hope is being placed on the new Heritage Centre bringing the increased footfall to the town's shops. I very much hope I am wrong.

Those who care about the town need to support the businesses we have left.

Tell us your care stories

IN the face of deep cuts to social care funding, many disabled and older people are being denied the care and support they need to live independently and with dignity. As a result, everyday tasks that many of us take for granted such as washing, dressing and eating are now proving more and more difficult for thousands of people.

At Leonard Cheshire Disability, we are campaigning for better and fairer social care and would like to hear from your readers about their experiences of care, good or bad. Whether you have received social care yourself, or experienced it through a friend or family member, please get in touch.

You can email us at campaigning@leonardcheshire.org or write to Campaigns, Leonard Cheshire Disability, 66 South Lambeth Road, London, SW8 1RL. For more information visit www.leonardcheshire.org.

MUSIC REVIEW

THE final Summer Saturday at the Newmarket July Racecourse went out with a bang, cumulating with Little Mix live on stage.

Earlier on in the day, the horseracing was really exciting. The horses thundered past and everyone got all excited when they came into view.

With the rain holding off, families arrived in their thousands to be part of this sellout concert and the Little Mix girls didn't disappoint.

With high-energy dance routines and a set of all our favourite songs, we along with the audience loved every minute.

Everyone was singing and dancing along and having a good time. We have only ever seen them on the TV before.

As this was a family event, the timing was perfect for us. Starting at 5.30pm after the last race, Little Mix were on stage for a full one-and-a-half-hours ending at 7pm. Along with us, there were a mix of families and groups of friends all out to enjoy themselves. We even saw some of our friends there.

Little Mix looked and sounded amazing even though from our viewpoint they were rather small on the stage but we could still see and we also looked at the big screens to get a closer look.

We had a really great time and would love to go to another concert very soon. Being in Newmarket, we didn't have far to travel and we would love to go along next year to another one.

SIGN UP: Dial A Ride driver Rita Claydon says service can be a lifeline

Invaluable bus service appeals for more users

NATALIE ROBINSON
@NatalieR_CN

MORE people are being sought to take advantage of Newmarket's Dial A Ride service.

The Newmarket News got the chance to spend a morning with Dial A Ride driver Rita Claydon to find out what the service is all about.

Rita, who has been a driver for nearly 15 years, was picking up six people living in Burwell, Swaffham Bulbeck and the surrounding areas.

She said: "Dial a Ride is vital for people that don't have cars or where there is no bus service in their area."

"People that use it all make friends and it's a real lifeline for people."

"A lot of people go to The Guineas, or to Tesco or Waitrose. We have people that go to meet their daughters in Newmarket as this is a way for them to do that."

"We have another lady that

comes to Newmarket once a month to see her friend at Studlands, and then next time her friend will go from Studlands to see her.

"If this service wasn't available, they would never see each other. It's invaluable."

Most people on the buses are regular users and a round journey from Burwell to Newmarket costs around £3.

Rita said that many people seem to think the service is only for disabled people – but that isn't the case.

"It's for anyone who doesn't have a car or a bus route," she said. "You can ring the office and they will sort out a trip for you."

Julie Bard started using Dial A Ride a few years ago and says you gain new friends from the people that use it with you.

She said: "I started getting on very much for the convenience and door to door service. I lost my husband a year ago and started to look at what was available."

"Now we are all a family." Dial A Ride, run by The Voluntary Network, runs Monday to Friday between 8.30am and 4.30pm. Call (01638) 608022 for details.

Amy rides into town as UK's youngest trainer

NEWMARKET will soon be home to the country's youngest racehorse trainer.

Amy Murphy is moving in to Hamilton Stables on the Hamilton Road and will be starting training in September.

The 24-year-old has wanted to be a racehorse trainer from a young age after growing up on Wychnor Park Stud in Staffordshire where her father, Paul, bred horses.

Amy said: "I have grown up around horses all my life. I have spent every minute of my spare time with ponies and growing up it was something I always knew I wanted to do.

"I think racehorses are amazing athletes to work with."

Amy started her career riding out for Nicky Henderson in Lambourn and Dr Richard Newland near Worcester, while studying for a diploma at Hartbury College.

There, she received a triple distinction in Horse Management before moving to Cheshire to join Tom Dascombe as barn leader and then pupil assistant.

After spending time in Australia to join Gai Waterhouse, looking after horses including Group One winner Sweet Idea, Amy returned to the UK and got a job in Newmarket, acting as pupil assistant for Luca Cumani.

Since 2015, she has been assistant trainer at Bedford House Stables – but now she is out on her own.

Amy said: "If you want to start out as a trainer, why would you go anywhere else? Newmarket has got the best facilities in the world with the best vets, farriers and physiotherapists. Everything is on your doorstep."

Amy will be setting up at Hamilton Stables, with 20 newly refurbished stables. She will have ten to 15 horses to start off with and hopes to pick up more as time goes on.

The yard also has its own horse-walker and turnout paddocks, and Amy has plans to build ten more boxes by Christmas.

"I am very excited to be in Newmarket and be the youngest trainer," Amy said.

"I hope some people will decide to support a young person with a lot of ambition."

"I am very much looking forward to getting started."

Store donates 5,281 meals

TESCO in Newmarket has donated 5,281 meals for local people in need.

The store, on Fordham Road in Newmarket, has been the most generous in the area in donating to Tesco's surplus food redistribution programme.

The programme, known as Community Food Connection, is in partnership with FareShare Food Cloud and sees Tesco stores donating their unsold food, including fresh produce and bakery products, to charities and community groups for free.

Rifka Chakkalakal, community food programmes manager at Tesco said: "We are delighted to see Newmarket contribute a fantastic 5,281 meals of surplus food to people in need.

"We believe that no food that could be eaten should go to waste, so we're excited to continue to grow this initiative."

"That's why we're looking for even more charities and community groups to come forward to register for the programme. If you serve food to people in need in your community – we want to hear from you."

Any charities or community groups that are interested in joining the programme should go to fareshare.org.uk/fareshare-foodcloud.

Wedding snaps for hospice

A PHOTOGRAPHER is giving away wedding shoots for couples to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Tristan Gale is offering the five shoots for happy couples on their wedding days – on the condition the newlyweds make a donation to the hospice rather than paying for his time.

He said: "The Hospice is a fantastic local charity that helps so many people and I just wanted to help support it."

"Photographing someone's wedding is a very special and fun occasion and I thought it would be a great opportunity to raise some funds while building up my client base."

The package on offer would be nine hours of photography on the wedding day and more than 200 images taken for the couple to keep. A pre-meeting would also be provided, as well as a photo gallery of the occasion on Tristan's website, where friends and family can purchase any photos they like from the big day.

If you are interested in taking part in the offer to help St Nicholas Hospice Care, email info@tristangale.com for more details.

You can also go to tristangale.com to see examples of his work so far.

BEHIND THE SCENES: Last year's Newmarket Open Weekend

Sneak peek at racing's HQ

THE gates of Newmarket are being thrown open again this September to give an insider view into the world of racing.

Newmarket Open Weekend, sponsored by 32Red, will be held on September 17 and 18.

The weekend starts on Warren Hill, like every day in the racing world of Newmarket, to watch horses train on the gallops.

Rosdals Equine Hospital is open in the morning and the new National Heritage Centre for Horseracing and Sporting Art will be welcoming some of its first visitors from 10am to 4pm.

Tours of the National Stud, Tattersalls and the Jockey Club Rooms will also be on offer throughout the day, and the British Racing School will be open between 10am and 12.30pm.

The first day of the Open Weekend will also see some of Newmarket's trainers learning the art of commentating at the Rowley Mile during an afternoon of horseracing.

William Haggas, based at Somerville Lodge, became reigning champion of commentating last year, but George Margason, Roger Varian and Gay Kelleway are all hoping to knock him off the top spot.

William said: "Having sneaked home victorious in last year's inaugural contest, I am very keen to retrain my crown in this year's trainer commentary competition."

And on Sunday, for just one day a year, a select few racehorse trainers will give members of the public a tour inside their yards.

This year, trainers include Luca Cumani, Ed Dunlop, Roger Varian, John Berry and a number of others.

The National Heritage Centre will be open again, and tours of the Newmarket Equine Hospital will be available.

Racing Welfare's Newmarket housing project and the Newmarket Day Centre are set to benefit from money raised at this year's event.

The racecourse will open its gates at 1pm, and over both days, visitors will also be able to grab a snack from the Food Festival at the racecourse, hosting the best produce East Anglia has to offer.

Tickets to the Open Weekend are £18.40 for a Saturday ticket, £12 for a Sunday ticket, or £30 for a weekend ticket. Under 18s go free.

Speeding drivers targeted by police

SPEEDING drivers have been targeted this week as part of an enforcement campaign by Suffolk police.

Officers have been speaking with drivers caught during the campaign to highlight the dangers of speeding and the consequences it can have.

Superintendent Kris Barnard, head of the Suffolk Roads Policing Unit, said: "Speeding is one of the fatal four behaviours which makes you more likely to be seriously injured or killed in a collision.

"We target speeding drivers throughout the year, but this campaign allows us to raise awareness among motorists about the consequences such behaviour can have."

The campaign will run until Sunday, August 28.

Wheely brilliant day out

BRILLIANT bikes of all shapes and sizes made their way to Burwell Museum last week.

Visitors to the museum, in Mill Street, could travel back in time on Thursday for the Brilliant Bikes Day, with penny farthings and other vintage bikes cycling through the grounds.

And for a more modern look, BMXs and others came along to the museum to show just how bikes had changed over the years. Bike themed crafts were also held and guests could go on a trail around the museum.

The day marked the final summer activity for the museum over the holidays but it is open every Thursday and Sunday.

The Tack Room set to open

SHOWCASE: Head to the National Heritage Centre for Horseracing & Sporting Arts for the region's best food and drink offerings

OPEN MONDAY: The Tack Room has been created by the team that brought you The Pantry

IT'S official: the new restaurant at the National Heritage Centre for Horseracing & Sporting Arts has been named The Tack Room: Food by The Pantry, opening to the public from September 5.

Many Newmarket residents will already be well acquainted with local eatery The Pantry, which has gone from strength to strength in the five years it's been open, thanks to their ethos of showcasing the very best food and drink that East Anglia has to offer.

Now owners Vincent and Ann-Marie will be at the reins of this latest local venture which will be a wonderful addition to the town, and they are very excited to do so.

"Vincent and I are absolutely delighted to have been selected to run the cafe/restaurant at Palace House," said Ann-Marie. "As owners of The Pantry which is soon to celebrate its fifth birthday, we are looking forward to a new challenge."

The Tack Room will be

situated just off the public atrium in a modern adaptation of the original building, accessible to the whole public not just Heritage Centre ticket holders, via large gates on Palace Street directly into the King's Yard.

The venue gets its name from the original use of the building when Bruce Hobbs occupied it in the 80s. With views into Rothschild Yard – stabling up to eight former racehorses – it is a unique and enchanting setting for a restaurant and café.

Up to 72 seated diners will be accommodated inside, with an additional 22 on an umbrella-covered terrace, and during the warmer months further tables will be available in the beautiful King's Yard that once stabled Charles II's horses.

Like The Pantry, The Tack Room will be purveying traditional, homemade British food with a twist, using the best regional and seasonal ingredients, and will retain its ethos of all-day dining – breakfast, lunch and afternoon tea – in a relaxed and friendly environment.

Menus will feature delicious homemade scones, sandwiches and hearty main courses, all offering great value for money. The restaurant will also have an onsite bakery to provide home-baked breads, cakes and takeaway food available to purchase every day, and both the bakery and deli will cater for food intolerances such as gluten and dairy, as well as for vegetarian and vegan customers.

By night the venue will transform into an elegant restaurant and wine and cocktail bar, with an emphasis shifting onto fresh fish and seafood. It will also be a fantastic venue for Christmas parties.

For further information contact Jonathan Tailor at thetackroompalacehouse@gmail.com or follow them on Twitter @tackroonPH.

The Tack Room will be open Monday to Saturday 8am-11pm and Sunday 10am-5pm. Visit them at Palace House, Palace Street, Newmarket, CB8 8EP.

The Gross rate is the contractual rate of interest payable before deduction of income tax at the rate specified by law.

The Tax-free rate is the contractual rate of interest payable where interest is exempt from income tax.

The Annual Equivalent Rate (AER) is a notional rate which illustrates what the gross interest would be if interest was paid and added to the account annually. AER on an account which pays monthly interest assumes interest is added to the account at the end of each month during the year. In practice, the option to have interest added in this way is not available on our monthly interest option accounts.

Personal Accounts

Cash Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs) and Cash Child Trust Fund accounts pay interest tax-free provided all terms and conditions of the account types are met. For all other accounts, interest will be paid at the Gross rate with no tax deducted.

Business Accounts

Interest will be paid at the Gross rate. The receipt of interest gross by a company will not prevent that interest from being liable to corporation tax.

All the above rates are variable. Tax treatment and rate of interest payable will depend on individual circumstances and may change in the future.

If you have any questions about this rate change, please call into your nearest branch or phone us today on 0345 601 4021.

£10m scheme to create a new 'gallop in the sky'

NATALIE ROBINSON

@NatalieR_CN

A £10 MILLION "gallop in the sky" could be built for trainers based in the Hamilton Road area.

The Jockey Club announced its plans for a new 950-metre gallop, emulating the iconic Warren Hill, on land off Hamilton Road on the racecourse side of the town.

A new uphill gallop will be made, subject to planning permission, to create a 30-metre incline so that horses boxed in the area do not have to travel the distance and cross traffic to Warren Hill.

The new gallops would start on the ground level before being part elevated onto a bridge, before finishing on a man-made mound.

William Gittus, managing director of The Jockey Club, said: "This is what we hope will be a gallop for the 21st century."

"We have the growth and we have a demand for further growth."

Training uphill is "essential" for any trainer, Mr Gittus said, but at the moment trainers who want to use Warren Hill have to travel across the town which takes both time and money.

It is thought the gallops could be finished by 2020, with hopes that the project will be paid for by borrowing and funding from Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs).

Nick Patton, assistant managing director of The Jockey Club, said: "The seed was planted in my head in 2010 by a trainer and since then we have done a huge amount of work. It really opened my eyes up to what could be done with a bit of innovation on a visit to Japan."

"In Japan, it meant them going from field gallops to uphill, revolutionising Japanese racing and allowed them to compete internationally."

Sir Mark Prescott joined a working group for the scheme and is in full support.

He told the Newmarket News: "This is the next step for Newmarket. Newmarket's growth has been a remarkable achievement and it will make this side of town as desirable as the Bury side."

"This is an expansion that looks 50 years into the future."

The planning application will be submitted to Forest Heath District Council in early September.

NEWS IN BRIEF

One-to-one care is from the private sector

IN last week's paper, we said that Jack's one-to-one support was provided by Leading Lives.

It is actually provided through the private sector.

Because of changes to the Independent Living Fund, the council said it could not fund that support and the centre.

A consultation will now run until September 9.

STAR SPOTTED:
Spanish supermodel Eugenia Silva snapped with her Original Satchel Store satchel

What made you decide to be a fashion designer?

Do you come from a creative family?

I've always seen my mother painting after work, and as a child, I would sit with her and talk about colours. I always enjoyed painting with her. My dad is a passionate winemaker – I guess that's another type of art. My sisters are in the arts as well. I trained in fine art at Central St Martins in London, and I always admired the creations of the fashion department, but I love art and live for it. I guess I was attracted by the genius. I always saw myself as an artist/designer. When I started working for Original Satchel Store, I was in London. At the time I was working with an amazing set designer, creating sets prior to various fashion weeks. I designed for catwalks and shoots for fashion magazines. I guess the Original Satchel Store was attracted by my artistic universe, and the previous collaborations I worked on. I was handling the art direction first for the company and that led naturally to having ideas for new bags. So they invited me to join the team for good, and I haven't regretted it for a second.

Which satchel designs are trending this summer?

Hard question because I can't make my mind up out of two of our bags: I love the yellow classic tote, but I think the silver satchel is the one for summer.

The Hera bag (part of the Run to the Sun collection) is striking and stunning and your 'baby' (design-wise). What inspired you?

A lot of it is a mix between pure abstract paintings, together with inspiration from fashion designer Issey Miyake and the drapery of ancient sculptures. When we did the photoshoot for the Run to the Sun collection, we took the models to Cadaques in Spain. It was a favourite place for artists like Magritte, Matisse and Picasso. The sea is impossibly azure and the light is unique. Run to the Sun became the obvious name for the collection.

If I could choose one bag it would be the Soft Leather Tote in forest green or tan (tough choice). What would yours be and why?

I have a tan soft leather satchel and tote which are with me every day of my life.

What's the mood for autumn/winter?

The mood can be summed up with black soft leather satchels and a bronze leather tote. And our top-secret new design that is going to be SO popular... I can't wait to start showing it to our international buyers and our customers.

Tell us a little about your design process. Does it start with a sketch or an idea?

I start with an idea which I carry round in my head until it begins to form into a complete product. Then I start sketching and moving things around. At that point I send the sketches to our design studio.

You work across Paris/Barcelona/South of France – is 'place' important to you?

Yes, definitely. It's important to be in the right environment to create day after day. I had amazing experiences and inspirations in London and Paris, but now Barcelona is just right for the time being. Here I have my studio where I work with ceramics and also design my bags. It's just perfect.

Are you designing for an international customer base? If so, are there style markets specific to certain countries?

Yes, there are definitely different style markets, but the satchels are traditionally and purely English, so if international customers come to us, they are specifically after this British style. That's our strength.

There are quite a few brands designing satchels now. What makes Original Satchel Store distinctive?

The quality of the leather and the craftsmanship of our leather

Bags of style

The Original Satchel Store, Impington, makes beautiful (really, really beautiful) satchels and bags. Lisa Millard talks designs, inspiration and celebrity satchel-wearers with OSS' globe-trotting creative director Poppy Nadal (while drawing up her fantasy satchel wish-list).

ART OF THE MATTER:
Poppy comes from a creative family workers is what makes our satchels distinct from the others. Our strapline is "Lovingly hand-crafted in England". We are also the only satchel company to have appointed its own bag designer. We are a fashion brand and we have a clear idea of the quality our customers expect.

We love the pannier satchels – perfect for Cambridge cyclists. Any plans to expand the collections?

Yes! Soon we will launch a new leather bag to beautifully stand slightly outside of our traditional range. Super-secret but super-exciting.

If you could design a satchel for anyone, who would it be and why?

I would design it for Iris Apfel (the American business woman, interior designer and, at 94, fashion icon) – her look is irresistible. I hope I'll look as good as her when I'm her age. I would deliver it myself so she could tell me her secret.

Who has been spotted carrying an OSS satchel?

We were contacted by the fashion editor of Vogue magazine who asked if we could make a pink satchel with VOGUE embossed in gold for a photoshoot, so of course we did.

Supermodel Daisy Lowe has one of our satchels, pictured below, as does Spanish supermodel Eugenia Silva. We also made a bag for Pakistani schoolgirl Malala Yousafzai who was shot in the head by the Taliban and who recently won the Nobel Peace Prize. That was very special.

Steve Greenhalgh of Ely-based Real Public Relations is the founder of The Original Satchel Store.

"Cambridge has been important to us because it's a great place to grow an international business. There is so much business expertise and advice available here. It's just a great place to be."

"The Original Satchel Store launched about four years ago and rapidly grew into one of the most sought-after satchel companies in the UK. The thinking behind the company was to launch a range of beautifully-designed and beautifully-made satchels and other leather bags, with the shared signature of vintage style, durability, being handmade in England and competitive price points. I suppose the most flattering thing is that every time we introduce a new leather bag, like our gorgeous totes, our competitors do the same."

"Satchels are indeed very popular – I would say they are classics. They are definitely a 'must-have' in the wardrobe because they are chic and fit any occasion, even if you just want an everyday bag. They are evergreen..."

FILM REVIEWS

With Damon Smith

Miles Teller and Jonah Hill play a couple of ordinary Americans who became arms dealers in this war movie based on a true story

Comedy of terrors

BASED on an article in Rolling Stone magazine and a subsequent book, War Dogs heavily dramatises the true story of two enterprising twentysomethings, who became multi-millionaires as arms dealers to the US military.

Director Todd Phillips, mastermind of The Hangover films, and co-writer Jason Smilovic don't let the truth get in the way of spinning an entertaining yarn.

They embellish the jaw-dropping rags-to-riches narrative with a hare-brained chase through the notorious Triangle of Death to the south of Baghdad, and some fizzing one-liners, which are used as chapter headings to bookmark each stage of the journey.

Miles Teller and Jonah Hill, who garnered numerous awards for their eye-catching work in Whiplash and The Wolf Of Wall Street respectively, are an incendiary double-act.

They clamber over various obstacles thrown in their characters' paths and brazenly wisecrack in the face of death.

Phillips' film opens with TV news footage from the war in Iraq in 2008.

"I see $17,000," explains massage therapist David Packouz (Teller). "That's what it costs to outfit an American soldier."

WAR DOGS (15)

Narrating his own extraordinary story, David introduces us to his wife Iz (Ana de Armas), with whom he hopes to raise a family by selling bed sheets to local care homes.

His get-rich-quick scheme flops and David is reluctant to tell his spouse that the boxes of bedding cluttering up their apartment are not their golden ticket to a brighter future. At this low ebb, David meets his friend Efraim Diveroli (Hill), who has discovered a website which lists contracts that the US military needs to be fulfilled.

"When life kicked me, I stayed down. But Efraim? He kicked back," gushes David, who agrees to become a partner in this shadowy yet highly lucrative business.

The buddies tender for a massive munitions contract with the help of infamous dealer Henry Girard (Bradley Cooper) and underbid by $53 million.

David travels to Albania to fulfil the contract, aided by his driver Bashkim (JB Blanc), who knows which palms to grease.

When David questions the morality of the business, which he keeps secret from Iz, Efraim immediately hits back.

"This isn't about being pro-war," he counsels David. "It's about being pro-money."

Bolstered by strong performances from the two leads,

War Dogs is an engrossing and frequently uproarious comedy of errors.

Phillips and Smilovic's script short changes the supporting characters: Iz exists solely to prick David's conscience with her fleeting words of wisdom.

However, they do they craft some big laughs like when the buddies visit a weapons expo in Las Vegas and David pithily describes the event as "Comic-Con with grenades".

War - what is it good for? It's very good for lining the pockets of the greedy and the enterprising.

Deal him in: Bradley Cooper also stars

SOBERING political reality trumps blood-saturated fiction in the third instalment of James DeMonaco's horror series, set in a dystopian America which has legalised murder for 12 hours every March to sate the population's bloodlust and reduce crime levels for the rest of the year.

Eighteen years after her entire family was slaughtered on Purge night, Senator Charlie Roan (Elizabeth Mitchell) is poised to narrowly win the 2022 Presidential election by campaigning on a promise to end the annual cull.

Her rival, Minister Edwidge Owens (Kyle Secor), is a firm believer in the Purge and has the full backing of the New Founding Fathers (NFF), the shadowy political hierarchy led by Caleb Warrens (Raymond J Barry). These men and women are distressed by the possibility of Roan winning over the electorate and they plot to eliminate her.

Warrens masterminds a scheme to undermine the security measures put in place by the Senator's most trusted bodyguard and protector, Leo Barnes (Frank Grillo).

The Purge: Election Year is one hack 'n' slash too far for DeMonaco's neat premise. Plotting is flimsy and characters are thinly sketched, so we don't have a strong emotional attachment to them.

Williamson provides comic relief to dissipate tension, almost putting a bullet in the head of one friend, who creeps up on him.

The lack of new ideas and directorial verve is palpable.

Election Year proves a flimsy follow-up to the first two Purge movies

ALSO SHOWING

BAD MOMS (15)

WRITER-DIRECTORS Jon Lucas and Scott Moore, who penned the opening film of The Hangover trilogy, advocate sexual equality when it comes to behaving badly in this raucous comedy about an exhausted mother, who throws caution and her inhibitions to the wind.

Picture-perfect parent Amy Mitchell (Mila Kunis) is a sales rep for a coffee company and manages to juggle work pressures with her responsibilities to her husband Mike (David Walton) and two children, Jane (Oona Laurence) and Dylan (Emjay Anthony). In the aftermath of a shocking discovery, a distressed and angry Amy publicly quits the parent-teacher association headed by Gwendolyn (Christina Applegate) and her fierce sidekicks, Stacy (Jada Pinkett Smith) and Vicky (Annie Mumolo).

Amy drowns her sorrows at a nearby bar, where she is befriended by Carla (Kathryn Hahn) and Kiki (Kristen Bell), who encourage Amy to let down her hair and join them on an alcohol-fuelled night out.

The following day, Amy reevaluates her highly regimented approach to daily life and implements some sweeping changes that have repercussions for Mike, the children and Gwendolyn's snarling PTA posse.

Mothers ruined: Kristen Bell, Mila Kunis and Kathryn Hahn

MECHANIC: RESURRECTION (15)

JASON STATHAM flexes his muscles and chisels his jaw in Dennis Gansel's testosterone-fuelled sequel to the 2011 action thriller The Mechanic.

Picking up straight after the first film, Resurrection follows hitman Arthur Bishop (Jason Statham) in the aftermath of a failed attempt on his life by his duplicitous partner, Steve McKenna (Ben Foster).

Since the rest of the world believes he is dead, Arthur retires from the killing game and plans to settle down with his sweetheart Gina (Jessica Alba) in a sun-kissed tropical paradise.

Unfortunately, an old adversary, Riah Crain (Sam Hazeldine), discovers Arthur's whereabouts and pressures him back into action by kidnapping Gina. In order to save the woman he loves, Arthur must travel around the globe and carry out three suicidal missions to assassinate underworld figures such as Max Adams (Tommy Lee Jones).

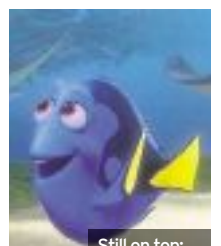

In the process, Arthur forges new alliances and uses his fighting skills to take on Riah and his gun-toting henchmen.

Fishmore Hall

RICHARD IRVINE
VISITS THE FOODIE
MECCA OF LUDLOW
AND, ER, EATS A LOT

NEED TO KNOW

■ RICHARD IRVINE was a guest at Fishmore Hall. Standard prices start from £150 per night and include a full English breakfast. There are also special offers on the website or call the hotel directly on 01584 875148. See www.fishmorehall.co.uk

IF YOU'D asked me about Ludlow six months ago, I'd have said nothing because I knew nothing. If you asked me now, I'd say it's a charming historic town on the Welsh border and full of nice things. It's not a fascinating insight but it's better than nothing.

We were staying in Fishmore Hall on the outskirts of Ludlow and right in the centre of beautiful Shropshire countryside.

Once a dilapidated manor house and now a boutique hotel with just 15 rooms, Fishmore Hall was more than equipped to deal with my demands.

Firstly, the bedroom was huge, the bed could sleep a large family and the bathroom was the size of my living room. Secondly, the menu looked excellent – and thirdly, it had a bar. My demands are few but essentially amount to nice food, big bed and alcohol.

After a very brief beauty regime, I was ready for a drink and a meal.

Victoria, on the other hand, decided to do more than wash her hands and apply deodorant.

So I went to 'explore the hotel' – or have a drink at the bar as it is otherwise known. I decided to relax with a couple of local beers and read a magazine about the exclusive Shropshire set, who looked very similar to a lot of other sets from different English counties.

By the time Victoria arrived, I was suitably relaxed but starving so had decided we were having the six-course tasting menu (£60 per head).

Victoria's fears that she wouldn't be able to eat all of it were allayed by my generous offer to eat anything she left. So began a beautiful evening of excellent food, wine and me hoovering up anything Victoria couldn't eat.

We had lobster and salmon ravioli, rabbit terrine and plaice all cooked to perfection.

I distinctly remember a braised brisket of Welsh wagyu as being a definite high point.

And then passion fruit and white chocolate cheesecake with orange sorbet as dessert.

This was a decent meal but the only thing that could make a decent meal better was cheese. I went for Cerney Ash, Ribblesdale Goat, Whittington Oak, Lancashire Bomb and Hereford Hop. And I'd hate to be too positive about a meal but it was all very good.

Maybe I struggle to find fault but I had a look and nothing was amiss, it was just excellent.

After a good night's sleep in the bed fit for a king, his entourage, and close family, we enjoyed a classy traditional English breakfast (no beans or hash browns) and hit Ludlow.

I say 'hit Ludlow' but a more accurate description would be we sauntered into a historic English market town.

The best way to describe Ludlow is like a small Chester with fewer students and Scousers and more people in tweed suits (seven in total).

There's a castle, which we didn't visit, having decided we'd spent enough on pottery from an actual potter. I presume he'd made them or we were the victims of an elaborate scam and we paid over the odds for some vases from Ikea.

I know you shouldn't have regrets but for the sake of a fiver, we missed out on the castle, even though we saw a bit of it by peeking over the wall.

As we had a large afternoon tea booked for later, lunch was a very simple affair – or, as it turned out, a very large pork sandwich with apple sauce and stuffing – from Vaughans sandwich shop.

It was becoming very apparent if you enjoy food, antiques, history, posh people, architecture – and food again – then Ludlow is somewhere you have to visit.

There are bistros, delicatessens, bakeries, restaurants and many more places in which you could eat or drink.

It seemed like a ratio of one fine food supplier to every three people in Ludlow, which meant we had our work cut out to visit each and every one before our grand afternoon tea.

Through sheer determination, courage and sacrifice we did it, although by the time we turned up at Fishmore Hall for that aforementioned tea, the light lunch had progressed to a couple of pies, flapjack, Victoria sponge and a pork and stuffing baguette.

At this point, I'd like to say there are so very many things to do in Ludlow and the surrounding area that the next time we visit, I'd say you'd need a good few days. The Ironbridge area is just a few miles away, as are numerous National Trust properties as well as the fabulous countryside.

We managed to catch a breather in the Unicorn pub, a 17th-century coaching inn, which was the very definition of traditional. I'm sure it has changed in 300 years but the only modern thing in the place was electricity.

It had been an hour or two since we last ate so it was time for our full afternoon tea – a never-ending feast of cakes, sandwiches and scones served with tea and coffee.

Our glimpse of life for an ordinary person of Ludlow was over.

Well, an ordinary person if they happened to eat like a greedy king and live in a luxurious boutique hotel, and spend their spare time sightseeing.

A RARE opportunity to build a contemporary country house with approximately 13,000 sq ft of accommodation in Weston Green, Cambridgeshire is being marketed by Jackson-Stops & Staff.

Mines Park, just seven miles from Newmarket and 14 miles from Cambridge, is a radical project which includes rare planning consent to build a country home all within an exquisite rural setting of around 100 acres of picturesque countryside.

The seven bedroom house is a reinterpretation of traditional timber framed manor houses and will be a model of sustainability and flexibility. The interiors will be generous with tall ceilings throughout and a double height main living room, hallway and master bedroom.

To the front of the house there will be views over a valley towards the lake and there is to be a walled garden, greenhouse, orchard and a secret leisure garden with gym, spa and pool.

Located in a commanding position surrounded by 49 acres of new woodland, the house will enjoy privacy and carefully framed views across ancient woodlands and fields.

The 13,000 sq ft of accommodation in the main house is supplemented by two cottages with approximately 2,900 sq.ft. located just inside the entrance to the park and there is a barn designed for landscape maintenance and storage hidden within the proposed woodland.

Jock Lloyd-Jones of Jackson-Stops & Staff commented: "This is a truly exceptional opportunity to create your dream country estate in an exquisite rural setting yet within commutable distance of London, Cambridge and Newmarket. There are excellent links to London via the M11, and good access to rail stations and Stansted airport."

Kia Niro in Cambridge and Ely

WANT a car that uses less fuel than the one you drive at the moment?

Well, the obvious way is to choose something designed with economy in mind. The Kia Niro might well fit the bill.

Arriving on Cambridge and Ely roads this month, the Kia Niro is an eco-friendly, reliable and above all – stylish alternative to the more expensive and less efficient models currently on the market.

It is arriving in Cambridge and Ely dealerships for a bargain price (prices start at £21,295 and top out at £26,995) and the new Niro works hard to keep fuel consumption down, thanks to combining petrol power with an electric motor and big battery.

Without trying, you will see a figure comfortably the right side of 40mpg – even cruising the motorway at the same speed as all the Audis and BMWs in the outside lane.

But here's the thing; show a bit of restraint and that figure

THE NEW KIA NIRO: Eco-friendly price is yours for a price-friendly £21,295 will charge towards 60mpg and you'll arrive almost as quickly and a lot less stressed.

I know because those figures – 43mpg, getting a move on and 57mpg with a little restraint – shone out from the Niro's dash after a drive in two versions of this Korean-built newcomer.

Here we have a car designed from scratch to provide a family of five with enough space to travel in comfort with lots of luggage and not use too much petrol.

Helping achieve that hoped-for economy (up to 74.3mpg official average, but less in the real world) is a 104bhp petrol engine and a 43bhp electric motor that drive the front wheels through a six-speed automatic gearbox.

It will manage short distances on battery power alone but most of the time the two systems are at work, with the battery recharging itself as you slow down and the electric motor turns itself to braking.

A VERY MILD CROSSOVER: Niro 'slips through the air more easily than most'

Even with both power sources at work the car feels simply fast enough, not fast – with 101mph flat out and 11.5 seconds to 62mph quoted. But it's all done with the minimum of fuss as the gearbox chooses the right ratio on your behalf.

Style-wise, the Niro is another entrant to the madly burgeoning ranks of crossover vehicles – cars designed to look like a loose mix of sturdy off-roadster and slick hatchback. The world can't get enough of them at the moment, so it would be churlish of Kia not to oblige.

You'd have to say the Niro is a very mild sort of crossover; looking almost as sleek and squat as a hatch and certainly needing no higher a climb into the driving seat. The result is that it slips through the air more easily than most crossovers, to the benefit of fuel consumption and wind noise.

The Kia Niro is available to test drive and order from Cambridge and Ely Kia dealerships today, including EMG Kia. To find out more visit the website on emgmotorgroup.com/kia or call (01223) 633767.

Hyundai i10

HYUNDAI'S i10 is a no nonsense city car that's cheap to buy and cheap to run, with excellent economy, low emissions and a transferable seven year warranty.

It has sold in large numbers here, so if you're not absolute sure about one, move on to the next and make sure the one you buy has full service history to make sure it's been properly cared for.

Hyundai's reliability has been very good ever since it launched in this country and secondhand i10 prices are very reasonable because of low prices new. They are all very easy to drive, manoeuvre and park.

I'll concentrate here on the model built between 2008 and 2013, which initially came with 1.1 or 1.2-litre engines.

This was replaced in 2011 by a new high economy 1.0-litre and a 1.25 four and the whole car was refreshed and up-dated.

The 1.0-litre three cylinder Blue Eco model comes with low rolling resistance tyres and other fuel saving tech that makes it very reasonable to run.

Good power steering, small size and an almost vertical rear make all i10s very town friendly and they even cope reasonably well with longer trips.

As well as a five-speed manual gearbox there's a four-speed automatic but this runs out of 'oomph' at anything above 60 miles an hour and is to be avoided unless you have to have it.

There is some wind and road noise but it's not too intrusive and the engine is smooth and reasonably quiet until pressed.

Handling and road-holding are pretty good, giving a fair amount of fun through the corners and although the driving position is not perfect, I didn't find it really uncomfortable.

There's room for four adults and comfort is up to other city cars, but the boot is tiny.

All have five doors and air con, electric windows, an MP3 compatible CD player, aircon, front and side airbags, folding rear seats and a height adjustable column.

Skoda Fabia

It has already been a fantastic year for Skoda and the Czech company looks set for continued success.

The manufacturer is currently achieving record sales and there seems to be no barrier to its strong growth. Earlier this year the car maker celebrated when the Octavia reached five million units, racking up more than 50 international awards on the way.

In July the respected JD Power company named Skoda as the overall winner of its automotive vehicle dependability survey in the UK – with the Fabia (pictured) and Yeti models topping their sectors and the Octavia finishing second in the compact car category.

Meanwhile the fantastic new Superb range has been boosted by the introduction of its fastest ever variant and both the saloon and estate versions continue to win awards and sell well.

But Skoda does not intend to rest on its laurels and later this year it will introduce an all-new large SUV which will feature seven seats as an option and introduce a new design language.

The Kodiaq takes its name from bears that live on a remote island off the southern coast of Alaska. It will share its platform with a number of other VW group products and will sit between the VW Tiguan and the larger Touareg.

The stylish new SUV will certainly give the profile of the brand another lift and more good news will follow as the new Yeti is due to arrive next year.

It seems there's no stopping Skoda, who now have plants in China, India and Russia.

The Czechs also have their eyes on the huge American market and it could be that the Kodiaq will be the vehicle to spearhead the drive.

Skoda are sure to bring out sales incentives and deals for the September registration rush so check their website or contact your local dealer as per the details below for further information.

Peugeot 308 GTi

YOU can't help it – the frisson of excitement when the legendary motoring initials GTi are on a car.

This time it is Peugeot's five-door 308 that bears the hot hatch moniker – and more than does it justice.

There are two versions produced at the company's Sochaux factory in France – a cheaper 250ps model and the 270ps fire-breathing monster I drove.

Push the ignition button and the sparkling work conducted by the French motor manufacturer's engineers at Peugeot Sport is revealed as the GTi hits 60mph from a standing start in a scintillating six seconds on its way to a top speed of 155mph.

The athletic 1.6-litre petrol engine, linked to a slick six-speed manual gearbox, is refreshingly refined while performing at its optimum leaving the driver to concentrate on the superb handling which benefits from a reworked suspension system that leaves the car hugging the ground.

If all that isn't enough for you then press the Sport button in the centre console which sharpens up an already rapier-like throttle response, changes the instrumentation to be backlit in red and pumps extra exhaust noise through the speakers.

Performance figures to die for are nothing without control but have no fear, the car corners as if on rails with jet-fighter reflexes and lots of confidence-inspiring grip.

Similarly you need something that is pretty efficient at bringing you to a halt safely so the 308 GTi gets larger brakes with natty looking red painted Peugeot Sport brake calipers.

The ride is firm on the 19-inch Carbone alloy wheels, but far from uncomfortable making it a viable option for pootling around town.

It is not a massive gas guzzler either as average fuel economy is claimed at 47.1mpg while carbon dioxide emissions are 139g/km.

Climb into the cabin and you are immediately grabbed by the GTi Alcantara bucket seats with red stitching and Peugeot Sport branding.

It is well equipped with dual-zone climate control plus sat-nav and cruise control with speed limiter. A 9.7-inch touchscreen is the star of the dash offering access to all the car's main treats.

The fit and finish are excellent thanks to the quality materials used and the care taken screwing everything together.

There is plenty of space for four adults while the boot offers plenty of room for the weekly supermarket shop – with rear seats folding when larger loads need transporting.

The 308 GTi is pretty pricey at a shade over £28,000 but in many ways justifies this as it is a hot hatch for the family – if such a thing can exist – with a mature drive that will nevertheless excite thrillseekers.

Heritage hatch heroes

NO doubt, the 1980s was the decade of the hot hatchback; a breed of cars that all-but killed the popular mass-market sports cars. What was it that car manufacturers found so enticing to want to replace a classic trunk with a sloped window?

Here, Heritage Car Insurance takes a look at the top five most iconic hatchbacks of the 1980s that could provide an insight into this burning question.

1. FORD FIESTA XR2

The Ford Fiesta XR2 stood out in the hot hatchback market of the 1980s because of its popularity amongst regular drivers. Furthermore, its great looks and brilliantly smooth handling made it an instant showroom winner.

Today the Fiesta XR2 continues to highlight all of Ford's trademark appeal; fast, affordable and fun. It can still be found at your local dealerships for under £1,500. With a little fixing up, this baby will be as good as new. Plus, its value will only increase.

ICONS: A 1983 Golf GTI Mk2, left, and the cheeky option – a rare Citroen AX GTI

2. VOLKSWAGEN GOLF GTI MK2

The GTI MK2 was a fundamental improvement to the genre-defining MK1, launched in the previous decade. It was touted as the most complete, with a bigger interior, a more powerful engine, better handling and security as well as vastly reduced under-steer.

Now more popular than ever, the Golf GTI MK2 is possibly the most sensible retro hot hatch on the market. Spares are well catered for.

3. PEUGEOT 205 GTI

Considered by many to be the Holy Grail of hot hatches, the Peugeot 205GTI is equal part light and equal part fast. It offers sharp-edged B-road performance with understated and classy looks and excellent build quality.

Its reputation for 'dangerous' lift-off oversteer was largely overplayed – this issue is easily resolved with a set of good modern tyres.

Launched in 1984 in 1.6-litre form, the 130bhp 205 GTI 1.9 followed three years later and became one of the quickest as well as sweetest handling cars of its generation.

4. RENAULT 5GT TURBO

The Renault 5GT Turbo vied with the Peugeot 205 GTI and Volkswagen Golf GTI as one of the defining hot hatchbacks of its era. With a 0-60mph time in 7.1 seconds and a maximum speed of 123mph, it was certainly the quickest of the front runners.

The 5GT Turbo produced some fantastic performance figures with 115bhp and health 121lb ft of torque on tap, thanks to its low weight. Today, the 5GT Turbo is rare and becoming increasingly expensive, with good cars costing upwards of £6,000.

5. CITROEN AX GTI

Weighing in at just 720kg, but boasting impeccable performance, the Citroen AX GTI has definitely earned its title as the Rocky Marciano of hatchbacks; a featherweight that packs a giant-killing punch.

The AX had zero flab plus fantastic handling balance and steering feel. Thin metal in non-structural areas of the body, as well as composite body panels, made the car as efficient as possible. This makes its 1.4-litre engine's 101bhp surprisingly effective.

The AX, though much sought-after, is very difficult to find today. A search through owners' clubs would be the best option.

Heritage Car Insurance managing partner, Mark Wilkinson, said: "These cars were standard fare on our roads just a little over 30 years ago. Yet, today they are considered 'classics', increasing in rarity and value."

Wheels

new car REGISTRATION

Vauxhall Corsa

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery then the feisty little Fiesta S Red should be blushing with pride at the arrival of an equally red number from Vauxhall.

The new £17,125 Corsa Red Edition is obviously aimed at the same sort of buyer (youngish, male, keen driver) who would dearly love to grab the wheel of a faster model but can neither afford the monthly payments – or the insurance.

So Vauxhall helps him out with a rather less potent but considerably cheaper (by precisely £1,000 over the VXR) version that aims to give similar thrills, if watered down a little.

Do it with conviction and, bragging rights apart, you'll have a car that's great fun to drive. Put it on our crowded, potholed roads and (whisper it) the slightly softer suspension and less aggressive throttle response might make it a nicer drive.

The Corsa Red Edition comes with a new turbocharged 1.4 litre engine, whose 150 horsepower propel the car to 129mph and reduce the sprint to 62mph to 8.9 seconds. So, perky enough for most.

Driven with restraint (ha!) you might approach the 49.6mpg the car recorded in the official test but it's very unlikely indeed to get anywhere near that in the hands of a typical owner. That's not what he bought the car for anyway, is it?

At least the 132g/km exhaust emissions mean a reasonable £130 annual tax bill and of more concern is going to be how the car looks and how it feels when he's showing off to his mates. We've all been there.

With chunky 17-inch alloy wheels and body coloured front lower spoiler, side sills, rear roof spoiler and rear lower skirt the Corsa Red Edition looks as little as possible like the shopping trolley Corsa STING that starts the range off at less than ten grand.

Add in a chrome-look tailpipe, black roof and door mirror housings – with still more black on the front grille bar and door pillars and here is a car that looks the biz simply standing still.

Dark tinted rear windows and lowered suspension ratchet up the cool look count, while the interior is given a sporty makeover with huggy front seats and fancy pedals and a leather wrapped steering wheel.

There's air con, electric windows and digital radio on the standard spec list, along with a switch to make the steering lighter, a feature that seems redundant on a car designed for the more brawny end of the market.

There was no need, or desire to select the city mode steering function on my Red Edition drive, where the feel through the wheel (which also usefully houses controls for radio and phone) was better than most cars at the price and fitted with electric assistance.

The gearbox has been fettled to make it more precise in this application (as though lesser versions need a less precise feel?) but felt some way less impressively click-click than I'd hoped for.

No doubting the spread of power, though, thanks to a turbo engine that sounds gruff whatever you ask of it and the car is precise enough on corners to make it fun, if the ride is less than forgiving.

The real question than arises: would you rather have the Fiesta S Red? It's less powerful, but £680 less costly and a lot lighter in the other sort of pounds too, so feels nimble on its toes.

You will need a test drive of both, which is no hardship, surely.

Fen Tigers bring the House down in last-heat decider

Speedway

MILDENHALL just held on after a late scare from Rye House to win 47-43 in a last-heat decider on Sunday to move within a point of the National League top four play-offs.

The Fen Tigers led by eight points three times but the Raiders kept rallying as they adapted better to wet track conditions.

Unbeaten Rob Branford (who clocked West Row's fastest time this year) and Ben Morley forced the final race decider with a 5-1 in heat 13, but Dan Halsey's fine move under Morley landed the decisive second place needed for victory.

Jon Armstrong's four blanks, caused by fuel and electric faults, was a big contributor to Mildenhall's flagging second-half performance.

"Rye House wanted it more but I'm happy we got the points," said promoter Kevin Jolly.

Mildenhall – Halsey 13 (6 rides), Coles 12+2 (6), Bowtell 9+2 (5), Jenkins 7+1 (5), Parker 3+2 (3), Armstrong 3 (5).

Rye House – Branford 14+1 (5), Morley 11 (5), Priest 8 (4), Locke 5 (4), Hunter 2+1 (4), Leek 2 (4), Woods 1 (4).

Mildenhall's second away win came at a heavy cost on Friday at Coventry with reserve Sam Bebee suffering multiple injuries in a spectacular crash.

The 15-year-old broke a leg, shoulder and hand after clipping the back-wheel of Connor Dwyer and somersaulting several times over the fence before landing on the greyhound track.

Halsey, who still plans to fulfil his Mildenhall duties after a call-up to Premier League Peterborough, starred again with an unbeaten performance as Mildenhall won 32-28, with the meeting cut short due to a curfew but the result stands.

"I couldn't turn it down," said Halsey. "I've asked I don't miss any Mildenhall fixtures while we chase the play-offs as I'm not willing to stab Kevin in the back and jump ship."

Taylor Hampshire, who made his Tigers debutant Coventry, has joined King's Lynn for rest of the season, leaving Mildenhall without a replacement for Bebee.

Coventry – Bacon 7, Davey 6, Carr 5, Dwyer 4+1, Walker 3, Terry-Daley 2+1, Halder 1+1.

Mildenhall – Halsey 12, Coles 8+1, Armstrong 7, Bebee 3, Hampshire 2, Bowtell 0.

The Pairs Championship on Saturday was postponed due to rain.

STEP UP: Mildenhall Fen Tigers rider Dan Halsey has earned a call-up to Premier League team Peterborough

Mildenhall take step closer to the title

MILDENHALL need just 13 points from their last two matches to win Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Steve Taylor was their hero in an eight-wicket win at Witham, smashing a six to bring up his century and another maximum to seal the triumph as he ended unbeaten on 112, with his team on 228 for 2.

Witham had earlier been kept to 225 for 6 as Hamzah Ikram and Kyle Morrison got two wickets each.

In Division Two, Steve Graham and Jon Allen had a memorable day as the seconds beat Long Melford.

After Taha Ahmed had hit 50, Graham hit a career-best 158 and Allen brought up his first senior ton by hitting the last ball of the innings for four to get their team to 334 for 2.

Ahmed completed a good all-round performance with two for nine as Long Melford were all out for 208.

The thirds suffered a five-wicket loss at Wivenhoe II in Division Four.

James Taylor returned to form with a score of 63 with the bat and figures of three for 19 with the ball, but his efforts were in vain.

There was better news for the fourths as they overcame Sudbury III in Division Seven.

Steve Bone, back from injury, took five for 43 and captain Lou Handy made 49 not out in the four-wicket success.

In Tucker Gardner Cambridgeshire & Huntingdonshire Premier League, Division Two, Fordham suffered a four-wicket reverse against Kimbolton.

Ian Baldwin (61 not out) helped his team post 208 for 9, but their opponents got home with five balls to spare.

In Mr Cricket CCA Senior League, Division Three, Fordham II powered their way to a 104-run success over Cokenach.

Gav Harding (84) and Andy Barker (79) top-scored in Fordham's opening effort of 307 for 4, before Mark Barton's four wickets helped keep their opponents to 203 for 8.

Lacklustre Burwell suffer defeat

BURWELL were unable to produce their best as they suffered a seven-wicket loss at home to Woolpit in the Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League.

Woolpit won the toss and put the hosts into bat first, and a slow wicket saw a struggle for runs.

Stand-in captain Joe Tetley top-scored on 39, with Ben Seabrook on 37, but there was little support, and Burwell were all out for 175.

Tetley said: "We didn't bat or bowl very well. We lost Graham (Hume) and Pete (Richer) for this game which was a bit of a shame. But we would have liked to have been a bit more competitive."

Burwell got a boost when Alistair Allchin and Seabrook took early wickets to leave Woolpit on 9 for 2, but that was as good as it got as Michael Rippon (76 not out) and Ben Cooper (91) helped guide the visitors to 176 for 3.

"We had some opportunities but we didn't take them," continued Tetley.

"We got a wicket with the first ball of the innings and then it went downhill from there."

Burwell II were pushed closer to relegation from the Tucker Gardner League, Division One as they lost at Godmanchester.

The hosts racked up 261 for 9, while there were two wickets apiece for Merrick Fuller, Charlie Goodchild and Josh Vowden.

Burwell were set a revised target of 187 in reply, but came up short on 163 for 9. Vowden top-scored with 31.

FINAL MORE
have one more race this season

Hawkbill gets a final target for the season

HAWKBILL is set to have just one more run this season after his winning sequence came to an abrupt end at York.

Godolphin's star three-year-old colt could not handle the quick conditions in the Juddmonte International as he finished well beaten behind Postponed.

Hawkbill, who had won his previous six starts which culminated in Coral-Eclipse glory at Sandown, will probably run in either the QIPCO Irish Champion Stakes at Leopardstown on September 10 or the QIPCO Champion Stakes at Ascot on October 15.

"He is great. Coming out of the race we now know that he quite clearly needs a bit of cut in the ground," said Appleby.

"He is in the Irish Champion Stakes and the Champion Stakes at Ascot. Wherever there is soft ground, he will go.

"If conditions at Leopardstown are not right we will wait and go for Champions Day.

"We will play it by ear, but he will probably have just the one more run."

David Simcock will aim high with Lightning Spear after he stole the show in the Doom Bar Celebration Mile at Goodwood last Saturday.

The five-year-old had not struck gold since June 2015, but he showed he could be a force to be reckoned with this autumn as he came from last to first to secure a length-and-three-quarters success in the Group Two event.

Simcock is now planning to take his inmate to the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes at Ascot on Champions Day.

He said of the Oisín Murphy-ridden 4-1 winner: "I've always said he's the best miler we've had and I believe that next year he will show his true potential."

Fair Eva could step up in trip for the Shadwell Rockfel Stakes at Newmarket on September 23 after her defeat in the Lowther at York.

The Roger Charlton-trained juvenile is one of the most high-profile daughters of Frankel after winning her first two outings impressively.

However, she could not match the pace shown by Queen Kindly – another Frankel filly – and Roly Poly at York, and had to make do with third place.

"Ascot and York are two different racecourses and they are probably two very smart fillies who finished in front of her last time, we don't really have any excuses," said owner Khalid Abdullah's racing manager Teddy Grimthorpe.

"We are confident about her and have not lost faith in her developing into a nice filly.

"We'll probably go a bit further with her next time, try her over seven (furlongs) and look at something like the Rockfel."

Caravaggio might not run again this season after suffering a setback which has put in doubt his scheduled engagement in the Juddmonte Middle Park Stakes.

Should the unbeaten colt miss the Group One over six furlongs at Newmarket on September 24 then plans to go for the Breeders' Cup Juvenile would be scrapped and he would go into winter quarters.

Trainer Aidan O'Brien said: "Caravaggio had a little bit of a setback about 10 days ago – he tweaked a muscle in his ribcage. He's fine now, but whether he'll make the Middle Park, we're not sure.

"I imagine if Caravaggio doesn't make the Middle Park, he might not run again this year. There's nothing much left for him.

"Originally we were thinking of going for the Middle Park and then maybe going on to the Breeders' Cup Juvenile on the dirt with him, but if he's not ready in time for the Middle Park he wouldn't do the rest.

"He'd probably finish off for the year if that was the case."

Football

Newmarket earn a point at Gorleston

STEVE Holder's goal ensured Newmarket Town came away from Gorleston with a point following a 1-1 draw in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

But while boss Kevin Grainger was pleased his team had something to show for their efforts, he admitted feeling disappointed they did not win.

"We were the best team by far," he said.

"We had a lot of chances, but were unable to take them."

Newmarket fell behind in the 15th minute, conceding after giving away possession in their own half.

The Jockeys got back into the game when Holder equalised shortly before half time.

But a strong wind in the second half made it difficult for Newmarket to put sustained pressure on the hosts.

They were still able to create some chances though, with Austin Diaper, Jake Wayne and Holder going close to making it 2-1.

Mark Webster almost grabbed victory in the last action of the game, but his header just cleared the crossbar.

"It's disappointing we didn't win but I'll take a point," said Grainger.

"It's always tough going to Gorleston. We've got 10 points from a possible 12 in our four games so I can't be too unhappy about that."

Mildenhall, who were due to travel to Newmarket last night, lost 2-0 at home to Felixstowe & Walton United.

Mildenhall were missing key players, and Felixstowe opened up a 2-0 lead before half time.

Dean Greygoose's men improved in the second half but they were unable to get back into the game.
